

HEAT AT CANBERRA.

CANBERRA, Tuesday.

The Federal Capital to-day experienced its hottest day for eight years. The maximum temperature was 104.2 degrees.

The day was a sequel to an excessively hot night, during which the minimum temperature was 71 degrees. For weeks the city has been experiencing a heat wave that has played havoc with the gardens. Nevertheless, there has been a greater influx of tourists than ever before.